Executive Office

Legislative Assembly - Reorganization Territory of New Mexico
Santa Fe, November 30, 1882

Hon. H. M. Teller
Secretary of the Interior
Washington

The Territorial Legislative Assembly of January 1882

the time for subsequent meetings of the Legislature by the first Monday in January 1883 and thereafter every two years. The Legislature adjourned and for several years no force authorized sessions of that body and thus the next session two years from the session of January 1882 above mentioned and one year later than the time designated by the Territorial Legislature. The Legislature assembled last November is in many respects a body of men decidedly superior to the average that has preceded them. The last three Legislative Assemblies have been elected fourteen months in advance of meeting. It was for this reason that the last Legislature fixed the time of meeting in January following the elections. This time for the meeting if approved by Congress and authorized for each two years following should leave the election in November previous to the meeting of the Legislative Assembly and at the same time now designated for the election of Delegates to Congress. This I think should be a wise provision from the fact that there would be saved an additional election and the expense there of. In view of the large immigration now and for three years past centering upon the Territory and the consequent new wants and necessities I think it would be well for Congress to authorize a Legislative Assembly at an early day. It would be impracticable for want of time to designate the first Monday in January, then I would recommend some time later say in February or March next. By the action of Congress authorizing an early meeting of the Legislature an appropriation of $2000 will be necessary to cover the usual expenses.

I have the honor to be

Very Respectfully
H. L. Hatch

Acting Governor.

P.S. I enclose copy of a letter upon the same subject addressed to your department from this office Nov. 1880. and call your attention to that portion of the same marked on the margin. This copy I understand was sent to Congress some time in December following.

~~Pardon~~

Whereas Timoteo Analla at the May Term of the District Court in the year 1883 sitting in and for the county of Lincoln Territory of New Mexico was convicted of murder in the fifth degree and sentenced to imprisonment for the term of five years.

And Whereas the jurors who sat in the cause expressed to me the opinion that the evidence is conflicting and the sentence severe and recommends that it had best be commuted.

And Whereas I have personally examined the testimony in the case and am of the opinion that it is not sufficient to justify a conviction, and it being satisfactorily shown to me that the said Timoteo is a young man of peaceable disposition and good character, I think it but justice that he should be relieved from the effects and consequence of said conviction and sentence.

Therefore I Lionel A. Sheldon, Governor of New Mexi-

and complete pardon for said alleged crime of murder, and do hereby fully release him from the effects and consequences of said conviction and sen-ever by any Sheriff or other officer in execution or in

26th Legislative Assembly

Convened at Santa Fe, the Capitol, February 18th

Message of the Governor

Delivered Tuesday, February 17th 1884.

Gentlemen of the Council and House of Representatives:

The convening of a legislature is an event in every country where the government is representative, and it sometimes marks an era in the history of a people. You assemble under favorable circumstances. The Territory is peaceable and prosperous, and the people are buoyant with hopes for the future. Obstructions have been thrown in the way of your meeting, but the people with unanimity and earnestness have urged the necessary legislation to legalize your session. The people favor improvement and progress, and their action in your behalf shows that they are confident you will do good work.

When government has afforded means of protecting the lives and property of the people, the next and most important subject for consideration and action is that of public education. Its advantages have been discussed and demonstrated for centuries in all civilized nations. Well informed persons know better than others how to provide the necessities of life, more clearly comprehend the laws of health, and have a better understanding of correct social rules and the moral duties. In a republic the general diffusion of knowledge is absolutely necessary to the maintenance of free, popular institutions.

The learned and brilliant Guizot, said: "Universal education is henceforth one of the guarantees of liberty and social stability. As every principle of our government is founded on justice and reason, to diffuse education among the people, to develop their understandings and enlighten their minds, is to strengthen their constitutional government and secure its stability." In his farewell address, Washington counseled the American people to "promote as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge. In proportion as the structure of government gives force to public opinion, it is seen that that public opinion should be enlightened." Chancellor Kent declared that "the parent who sends his son into the world educated, and the community of a useful citizen and bequest to it a nuisance."

Whenever a government fails to provide for universal education at the public expense, the rich are educated, and the poor necessarily remains in ignorance. This results in inequality, class advantages, and oppression. The impulses of humanity, social security and happiness, economy in every respect, and the teachings of the christian religion, demand that all shall be placed on a footing of equality so far as educational advantages are concerned, and that the rich shall contribute from their abundance towards the education of the children of the poor.

According to the census of 1880 the greatest percentage of illiteracy in the United States was in New Mexico; and very little has been done since that time to change the condition. The fact thus disclosed is most uncomfortable, especially when we consider that in a large section of the nation, until recently, one half the people were slaves and denied education by law. Causes almost beyond human control may have produced this exceptional local condition. It is no purpose of mine to criticize or find fault, but it is wise to state the facts plainly, that we may deal with them heroically, bravely and effectively.

Under the grand old constitution of the United States, the government can nowhere foster or interfere with any religious sect or creed. Under its protecting aegis all are equally free to form and propagate opinions, and to worship God according to the dictates of conscience. In the public schools there should be taught only the ^{art of} morality and those branches of learning necessary to qualify the people for the discharge of the business and social duties of life. Instruction in religious tenets should be left to the family fireside and to institutions established for that purpose.

The existing school system in New Mexico is defective in theory and is thwarted in execution. Frequent complaints are heard before me from many parts of the Territory; and by all classes of our citizens, showing partiality in the application or misappropriation of the school funds. The executive department is without power to interfere, and therefore cannot afford relief. The laws are in such confusion and uncertainty that it will be difficult to cure defects by amendments, or to create an intelligible or exigible system. The sensible plan is to repeal all laws on the subject of public schools, and pass a comprehensive and just bill that will provide equally for the education of all children, and in order that there may be uniformity and efficiency there should be territorial control. It should provide for the appointment of a Superintendent of Education with general supervising powers; and to whom reports shall be made that statistics may be furnished the people that will show the management and progress of the schools. With the laws and experiences of the most progressive states before you and for your guidance, you will be able to frame a law that will accord with the advancing spirit of the age.

The preservation of peace and security to the people against the acts of evil doers, are the primal and highest duties of government. Laws for the punishment of criminals are essential, and their execution should be rigorous and unerring. Certainty of punishment is a greater preventive of crime than severity. Intelligence has a restraining influence. Men of learning and great information do commit crimes, but the natural tendency of education is to make men better. Laws may be as comprehensive and as perfect as the human intellect is able to devise, but they are ineffective without the necessary agencies for their execution, and unless these agencies are capable and faithful.

One of the most glaring defects in our criminal system is the insufficient number of prosecuting officers. Any one of the twelve counties in the Territory is larger in area than some of the states of the Union. Each of the three judicial districts has a great number of square miles than the great state of Indiana. Crimes are more numerous in proportion to population than in old and organized communities. Population is increasing and the salaries of prosecuting officers will be greater as time advances. The present attorneys necessarily live remotely from a large portion of their districts and much of their time is actually spent in attendance upon courts. They can do but little in preparing the public business in the several counties before the courts commence their sessions, and in the haste imposed upon them the public business cannot always be well done. Moreover, much expense is incurred in retaining witnesses for long periods before the grand jury and courts, and it is almost a necessity that grand juries are retained during the whole of the term, and while the district attorney is preparing business for their consideration. Suits for delinquent taxes cannot be brought to commencement and prosecuted to a speedy conclusion under present conditions.

Much expense may be saved and many evils avoided by having a prosecuting attorney in each county; such an officer is as necessary as a sheriff. He will always be present to advise county officials and promptly institute proceedings when necessary; he can have the public business best not retain the court officers, and even so secure himself that important cases need not be prosecuted. Such officer should be a junior in rank standing before the courts.

I recommend that the office of District Attorney be established and that an act be passed providing for prosecuting attorneys in the several counties - that they be appointed to hold office until the first day of January next succeeding their election. I also recommend that the office of Attorney General be retained; whose duty shall be to advise the territorial officers, to represent the territorial government in all cases before the Supreme Court, and to render assistance in important cases before the district courts as shall be required of him by a judge of a district court or the governor, and that he be allowed a salary and such fees as shall be compensatory.

Though during the last two years great improvements have been made, and several of the counties have constructed creditable jails, still in others they are small, filthy, frail and insecure. To confine in some of them produces disease, and escapes are almost as easily made as from a paper lantern. Under some circumstances a closer watch and stronger guards are necessary and complaint is made that some of the counties refuse to make proper allowances for these extraordinary services. There can be no certainty that criminals will be tried and punished when there is so much insecurity. It is probable that there is authority enough already conferred by law upon county commissioners to construct suitable jails, and that their negligence or indifference is the cause of the reprehensible condition. What further legislation is necessary I leave to your judgment, with the expression of the hope that every power that you possess will be exercised to remove the evil under consideration.

The law authorizes the Attorney General, with the approval of the Governor, to contract with any state for the confinement and custody of persons convicted within the Territory and sentenced to labor in the Penitentiary. Under this law a contract has been made with the authorities of the State of Kansas, under which the Territory pays twenty cents per day for each prisoner, and it is required to deliver them to said Penitentiary at its own expense.
A more favorable contract could not be made with any other state. There are now in confinement in said Penitentiary sixty five persons, whose keeping requires the expenditure of thirteen dollars per day. The Northern, Pacific & Santa Fe Railroad voluntarily transports the prisoners, agents and guards at half rates, still the cost of sending prisoners to the penitentiary ranges from seventy-five to one hundred dollars per capita, the amount depending upon the number sent at a time, and the locality in the Territory from which they go. The law requires the governor to send away the prisoners at least twice a year. In order to save expense to the counties, and in consequence of the insecurity of some of the jails, I have deemed it my duty to send the prisoners away as often as a reasonable number has accumulated. The number of prisoners will necessarily become greater and expenses for their transportation and maintenance will rapidly increase. At present the aggregate expense is more than two thousand dollars per annum, and it can not be long before this expense will be doubled. I deem it due to the agents and guards that have been selected from time to time to state that there has not been an escape while prisoners have been in transit nor has any complaint reached the executive department of improper treatment by the agents and guards.

It will be observed on examination of the Auditor's report that the expense of transporting prisoners and their maintenance in the penitentiary for the last two years has amounted to $13,286.35. The money thus paid is lost to the Territory forever which need not be the case if expended within our own borders and among our own people. Nearly all well managed penitentiaries are self-sustaining and in many instances they afford a revenue to the state. There is no reason why a penitentiary in New Mexico should not be self-sustaining. Sooner or later there must be such an institution and the initiative step might as well be taken now as to delay. The money now being paid out of the country will soon construct one, and the structure thus created will be so much of a saving to the people of the Territory. Convict labor can be employed almost from the beginning in the construction of such an edifice and it can be enlarged from time to time as the public needs demand. Moreover the moral effect of a state prison in our midst will operate as a restraint upon persons criminally disposed. As a measure of economy and as a preventive of crime, I know of nothing more essential. It will be necessary to authorize the issue of a small number of territorial bonds to insure rapid progress in the work. The financial condition of the Territory is such that there is no reason why its securities, bearing a reasonable rate of interest, may not be disposed of substantially at par. I recommend that a bill be passed authorizing the struction of a penitentiary, to be located at some central and accessible point and where convict labor can be profitably employed.

The Adjutant General's report shows the organization and condition of the militia, the services performed, and the expenditures in detail out of the militia fund. In no case, with a single exception, has the militia been employed except on the application of the citizens and in aid of the civil authorities. The exception was when the Apaches made their raid in March, 1883. Captain James F. Black, of Shakespeare Grant County was ordered to pursue the Indians and protect the people which he did with creditable results. The militia has been most useful in many localities in preserving peace and order, and in breaking up organized gangs of thieves and desperados. Generally the officers and men have been obedient, efficient and entirely regardless of their duties and obligations under the law. The recommendations and approval of the good citizens have been so general and cordial that I am confirmed in my opinion that the militia is a most important agency in affording security to life and property in the more exposed portions of the Territory.

Several years ago there were drawn from the United States several hundred stands of muzzle loading rifles, and a quantity of ammunition, which have become useless by the late improvement in arms. The Territory is paying storage on them. Application has been made to the War Department for permission to return these ordnance stores, and that the account of the Territory be credited therewith. This has been declined. As these arms and ammunition are of no value to the Territory, I recommend that the Adjutant General be authorized to sell them at public auction to the highest bidder, and that the proceeds be placed in the territorial treasury.

Since 1865 there has been no authorized compilation of the laws of the Territory. Numerous changes and amendments have been made by subsequent legislatures, so that it not only requires careful research to approximate to a knowledge of what the law is on many subjects, but not unfrequently doubts arise which lead to contrariety of views among officers and lawyers, and to conflicting opinions among judges. The utter absence of a well digested system is glaringly apparent. Good government demands that laws shall be made so simple and plain that every officer may easily discover his powers and duties, and that the citizen of ordinary intelligence may comprehend his rights and obligations. My immediate predecessor appointed a commission under authority from the legislature, which reported two years ago a compilation or revision which went far towards simplifying and systematizing the laws on the whole range of subjects. I suggest that that report be taken up and adopted with such changes and amendments as in your wisdom may deem necessary.

The taxes now imposed by law for territorial purposes are ample to meet the public demands, although the last legislature authorized increased expenditures in considerable amounts, for jury fees, and charitable schools, and in order to suppress crime, rewards for the apprehension of criminals have been freely offered and in all proper cases paid, and also expenditures for militia purposes have been much larger in the last than in any previous year. Assessments in several counties have been imperfect and do not include all the taxable property and in many cases property is greatly undervalued. In some of the counties, taxes are not promptly and thoroughly collected. The law contemplates that taxation shall be equal and uniform. It is a partiality and a wrong to compel one citizen to bear the burdens of government and to allow others to escape whether through error in the law itself or through negligence or defective execution. Some of the assessors seem not to understand that they have power to change valuations as fixed by the owners of property, and that it is their duty to visit every precinct in their respective counties and exact from each tax payer a list of his property. I am satisfied that not much more than one half the taxable value of the property of the Territory appears on the assessor's rolls.

By Law the probate clerks are made the assessors. They have other important and, at times, onerous duties to perform, and which they are as much obligated to discharge as to make the assessments. It does occur that one or other of these duties must be neglected. Hence, when they neglect assessments, the burdens of government are not equally and faithfully borne. The law prescribes that the assessments shall be made between the first of March and the first of May. The officer appointed to assess for taxation should have no other duties to perform, that his whole time may be devoted to his work. The pay allowed the assessor is liberal for the work done, and it is probable that all the probate clerks will join in resisting the proposition, but I deem it a measure of the highest importance that the

be a separate officer.

The reports of the Auditor and Treasurer, will show the revenues received by the Territory, and the several objects for which the same have been expended. Complaint is made that the Territorial Treasurer does not keep a convenient office open to the public within reasonable hours. The compensation allowed this officer is small, and no allowance is made for paying office rent. I recommend that a law be passed requiring the Treasurer to keep an office at some convenient place at the capital to be open to the public from 9 o'clock A.M. to 3 o'clock P.M. of each business day, and that he be allowed a sufficient sum for rent, stationary, fuel and books. And that he also be required to keep a book in which shall be registered all warrants in the order of their presentation, and that he be required to pay such warrants in the order of their registration, and that such registration book be subject to inspection by all interested persons during business hours.

The duties of the Auditor are most important and onerous. This officer is constantly employed. The salary allowed him is by no means compensatory, and I recommend that it be raised to two thousand dollars per annum.

The acts of the last legislature went far towards putting the public library in a useful condition. These acts have been faithfully obeyed. It is rapidly becoming valuable and the accumulation of books without cost to the Territory already aggregate a considerable number of volumes. The report of the Librarian will show the work that has been done and the condition of the institution.

Most valuable service has been performed by the Bureau of Immigration. It has prepared and published ten thousand copies of the volume entitled "Illustrated New Mexico," the larger number of which has been distributed in the states and foreign countries. The work is comprehensive and meritorious and has done much to draw attention to this country. Applications for copies are daily made and responded to, and through this source of information alone it may be expected that immigration and capital will be attracted to the Territory.

The rapid increase in cattle, and other animals together with the development of agriculture, force the consideration of the question of inclosures. There are two policies, one is to confine the animals and the other to inclose the crops. One or the other of these policies is adopted in all countries. It is a question of economies as to which shall prevail. When the cultivated lands exceed the pastoral it is wiser that the latter should be fenced or the animals herded, but where the pastoral far exceeds the agricultural it is better that the latter should be inclosed. There are a little over seventy-eight millions acres of land in New Mexico, and only about eight millions are adapted to cultivation, seventy millions acres must be forever employed in stock raising. It will be much less expense to fence the agricultural than the pastoral lands. The government of the United States forbids the fencing of public lands, although all the citizens are allowed to pasture their animals thereon. If the legislature deem it proper to action on this subject it will be only necessary to pass an act regulating partition fences between adjoining owners, to provide that owners of animals shall not be liable for damage done to the lands of another by such animals unless they break over a good and substantial fence, and to define what shall be considered a good and substantial fence as to height and strength.

Governments in all civilized countries have made some provision for the support, education and care of the unfortunate of society. In all the states of the Union are found asylums for the insane, the deaf and dumb, and the blind. New Mexico may be said to have made no provisions for any of them. The insane must run at large, or be confined in jails with persons charged with crime. I do not think the Territory can go to large expense for the present, in view of other demands upon its resources, in providing charitable institutions. I do believe however, that the Territory can and ought to make some provision for the care and cure of the insane. Wealthy patients may be made to pay, but the poor should be cared for at the public expense.

New Mexico suffers from unsettled questions relating to grants of land made by the Spanish and Mexican governments. The treaty under which this Territory was ceded to the United States stipulates for the recognition of the rights of property as they existed under the government which made the cession. International law and good morals demand that this stipulation should be carried out in good faith.

Grants in such numbers and of such magnitude have been and are claimed as to cast doubt upon the genuineness of nearly all of them. American ideas are hostile to large, landed estates, and it must be expected that claims to immense pretended grants will be resisted until it has been fully and fairly settled that they are legal and valid. The methods now in vogue for the adjudication of these questions, besides being tardy, lead to ~~unsatisfactory~~ ^{unsatisfactory} results.

The Territory will not enter upon a high career of prosperity until titles to land are finally adjusted. Two plans are before Congress. One remits the subject to the established courts, and the other contemplates a commission that shall have no other questions to deal with. In my judgement the commission is preferable, because the business will be more speedily settled; and, having no other business to interrupt, the investigation will be more thorough and the results more intelligent and just. The legislature can do nothing except to memorialize Congress to pass a measure that will most promptly and satisfactorily dispose of the subject.

The organic act forbids the granting of special charters for municipal corporations. There is a general law on the subject. This law imposes duties upon officers that do not exist under the names employed in the general incorporation act. Doubt has arisen whether, under the language of the last revenue act, municipal corporations can impose taxes to pay the expenses of such governments. The law should be so amended as to remove doubts, cure defects, and to enable municipal authorities to render their governments efficient and useful.

The most important question now before the American people, is that of internal transportation. This is almost wholly done by railroad companies whose franchises and privileges are generally granted by local governments. The control and regulation of these corporations are peculiarly within the power of the states and territories where the charters are acquired. Railroads are of the greatest value to a people and property in them should be as sacred before the law as any other. Capital invested in them should be treated with the same consideration and justice as houses, lands and merchandise. The exclusive privileges enjoyed by railroad corporations necessarily give them a monopoly of the carrying trade, and unless restrained and controlled they are liable to impose exorbitant charges and institute unjust discriminations. The law of primogeniture maintains large landed estates in England, but its abolition in this country has effectually prevented any serious land monopoly. Not so with railroad companies. The demise of a stockholder may result in the division and distribution of his stock, but the corporation remains one and indivisible. Long lines between terminal points are apparently in competition, but experience demonstrates that such competition ends in combination. The railway track is not a common highway, on which the citizens may place their own vehicles to avoid exorbitant charges. The right to use the track is exclusive, and hence fares and freightage may be made oppressive. The tendency of railroads, under the theories and practices in vogue, is to build up large cities at their termini. The through business is not expected to be very remunerative, but the money is made by discrimination against intermediate points. That more should be received per mile for short than long hauls cannot be controverted, but that excessive and unjust differences are made cannot be gainsayed. Railroad companies are common carriers, and subject to the same law as others engaged in the carrying trade. They are entitled to receive a just compensation, which according the law of England and America, is to be determined by the court and jury. When the carrier employs little capital and does a small business, it is a simple matter to determine what would be a just compensation, and is a question which may with practicability be submitted to a jury. But when millions of dollars are invested, and where the business done and expense incurred amount to vast sums, and it is necessary to examine voluminous accounts, there is not time in the term of a court for a jury to make a complete investigation and to reach a conclusion that will be just towards all parties concerned.

An inflexible rule prescribed by a legislative act fixing the rates of fares and freight and applicable at all times and to all railroads alike would result in inequality and injustice. It requires extensive investigation to prescribe rules for the mere classification of freights that would operate fairly. In no two cases have roads cost the same per mile, nor is the expense of operating and business done the same. In the one case a company might suffer losses under an inflexible rule, and another company might receive more than a reasonable compensation. To avoid the injustice that might be done to railroad interests, to secure the people against exorbitant charges and crushing discriminations and to approximate as nearly as possible to justice, many of the states have created commissions to regulate fares and freightage and to make rules and regulations to prevent the practice of abuses. Such commissions are in duty bound to study the railroad question in every aspect and supervise the management so as to harmonize and protect every interest. It is a subject requiring constant supervision in order to meet the constantly changing conditions. Governor Hullou of Illinois in his late message to the legislature of that state says: "This work is of such a nature that it can never have a perfect and final accomplishment. The changing conditions of trade, development of new branches of industry, and the te of experience and observation, will furnish grounds for further revision, which must be made with full recognition of the rights and interests of all parties concerned." In his message to the legislature of this state Governor Crittenden of Missouri avers that the railroads of that state are in a flourishing condition, and that under the management of the railroad commission fares and freightage have been reduced twenty five per cent. since 1878 and that this has resulted in a saving to the people of $25,000,000 in five years.

It is unnecessary to accumulate testimony as to the wisdom of the policy of governmental supervision of railroads through the agency of a commission. None of the states have abandoned which have ever adopted it. Though at times railroad companies and commissions have had controversy yet in nearly all cases the final adjustment of differences have been satisfactory to the people. It cannot be expected that the law at the outset will be perfect, but experience will enable future legislatures to make changes and amendments that may seem necessary. The laws already in force in the states will operate as a light and guide in framing a measure for this Territory. I recommend that you enact a law authorizing the appointment of a railroad commission to be composed of three citizens of the Territory and that they be empowered to regulate fares and freightages on the railroads in the Territory, and to make rules that will secure immunity to the people from unjust discriminations and other abuses. The law should provide that no person shall be appointed on the commission who holds employment under a railroad company or who has any interest in railroads. In order to secure the services of able and honest men it will be necessary to allow compensatory salaries.

There is a demand from some of the people for the collection of taxes from the railroads already constructed. The general railroad law of 1878 expressly exempts from taxation the property of railroad companies organized thereunder for a period of six years from completion. The supreme court of this Territory has recently decided, in effect, and the opinion was unanimous, that said law is a contract with the railroad companies which cannot be impaired. This decision is in conformity to those made on cognate questions in many of the states by their highest judicial tribunals. It would seem from a provision in the constitution of the United States and from an unbroken line of decisions of the highest courts of the country that a repeal of the clause in the act of 1878 exempting from taxation can have no other effect than to produce useless and expensive litigation so far as present railroads are concerned. A repeal would render all companies organized in the future liable to taxation. However it is wise to consider well whether such a step is advisable. It would give a great advantage to existing companies, and might prevent the building of roads into sections not now developed and which greatly thus means of transportation. Unless such roads are constructed there will be no such property to tax, and if constructed after six years there will be so much additional taxable property in the Territory, to say nothing of the increase of other property that will result from the development induced by the building of such roads. If it be desirable to encourage the construction of other and competing roads it would seem to be wise to give new enterprises the same advantages and encouragement that have been conferred upon old ones.

The people not infrequently suffer losses from irresponsible private banks. The word bank conveys to the general mind the idea of wealth and safety and misleads many incautious people. Such institutions should be controlled by the law so far as to compel the giving of such information as will advise the public as to their solvency. They should be required before commencing business to file with the territorial Auditor a statement verified by oath, showing the capital to be employed and the assets and liabilities of the person or persons interested over and above the banking capital. Existing banks should also be required to make a sworn statement showing the same facts, and the amount and nature of their liabilities. Every three months reports should be compelled disclosing the extent and character of their business, their assets and liabilities, and all reports should be published by the Auditor for the information of the people, and at the expense of the respective banking establishments. When we consider how seldom it is that losses are sustained by depositors in national banks, the wisdom of exercising a certain supervision by government becomes apparent.

For failure to make reports every private bank should be liable to be placed in the hands of a receiver by the courts, and the person required to make the sworn statement should be made liable to criminal prosecution in case of failure. The person swearing to a false report should be deemed a perjurer and punished accordingly. Any person connected with such bank who receives money or other valuables on deposit knowing the bank to be in failing or insolvent circumstances should be subject to the severest penalties. No honest or responsible banker will object to such a supervision, and it will tend to secure honest working people against impost

It is the right of the people to have the fullest knowledge of the doings of the government. The reports of the Adjutant General, Auditor, Treasurer and Librarian contain minute, accurate and complete information touching the operations of their respective departments. I recommend that these reports be printed in reasonable numbers for distribution among the people.

New Mexico begins to attract the attention of the people of the states and foreign countries. Climate and resources are becoming understood and are creating a favorable impression.

Many people in every part of the country are making earnest inquiry concerning the territory with a view to coming here, and bringing such means as may be at their command. It is far better that we should have immigrants of moderate means, industrious habits, peaceable dispositions, and practicable intelligence, than that capital should be brought here in large blocks with which overshadowing monopolies are created. Capitalists do not distribute, but absorb, while men of honest hearts, tough muscles, working dispositions and good sense contribute to the growth of general wealth, and furnish a guaranty of good government.

The modern idea is that government should afford security to life and property, promote intelligence, and that judicial proceedings shall not be clogged with absurdities and technicalities which tend only to create the "laws delay," but that methods should be plain and simple which will more surely and quickly secure the ends of justice. It calls for laws that will render every branch of the government efficient and command equal respect for every interest of the people. It is the mission of the legislative power to supply the machinery of government and then the people are responsible for the selection of the agents to manage it.

It is well to promulgate the material advantages of the territory. Though the plain facts are reductive, something more is needed to attract immigrants in great numbers, and of a desirable character. Thoughtful men will ask "what kind of a government have they in that country?" not whether it is a state or territorial in form, but what internal policy will the people sustain? Are life and property safe? What are the educational advantages? Are the laws honestly and intelligently executed? Is the government administered for the many or the few? If all these questions can be satisfactorily answered immigration will be large and of a desirable class, progress will mark the close of each days labor, and general happiness will abound.

Personal interests should have no weight in dealing with public questions. Partisan advantages should not be considered except so far as to recognize the principle that good works commend a party to the support of the people. Race, religious and linguistic differences should disappear, and all should unite in earnest efforts to do whatever seems best for the common weal.

The greatest responsibility is with you gentlemen. It is your province to inaugurate legislation; you are the representatives of the people and are supposed to reflect their wishes. That they are heartily in favor of the most progressive measures no one can doubt, and that you will disregard their wishes no one anticipates.

In all measures calculated to promote the general welfare the executive will act in most hearty accord. Let there be the utmost confidence and frankness. Solicit the freest interchange of opinion and the fullest discussion; any of us may be in error. If I am thought to be, only point it out and the correction will speedily take place.

May the good people of New Mexico forever bless the day that witnessed the convening of this legislature.

And whereas, afterwards and during the same session a further act was passed, and was approved and became a law on the 3rd day of April A.D. 1884 which provides as follows

That the Governor of the Territory of New Mexico is hereby authorized whenever in his judgement the circumstances and public interest warrants and requires him to do so from time to time to suspend by proclamation the operation of an act entitled "an act to prevent the introduction of diseased cattle into the Territory of New Mexico" approved March 19th 1884 or by proclamation to put the same in force at any time when suspended that he may believe the circumstances or public interest require said act to be in force. Said act is hereby suspended in its operation and effect from this date until the same may by the Governor be placed in operation and effect by his proclamation to that end."

And whereas numerous citizens and cattle owners of the counties of Dona Ana and Grant in the Territory of New Mexico have represented to me that in said counties diseased cattle recently imported from the State of Texas have already alarmingly infected the herds of cattle in said counties and that disastrous results are inevitable if further importations are not prohibited

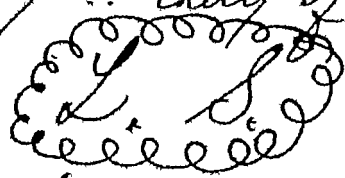

And whereas it is reported from several localities beyond the limits of New Mexico that disease has broken out among cattle from contact with those imported from the State of Texas.

And whereas the cattle interest of the Territory of New Mexico is hereby of the greatest importance to the people and should be preserved, protected and fostered with zealous watchfulness and from the information placed before me it is my judgment that the circumstances and public interest warrant and require that the said act entitled "an act to prevent the introduction of diseased cattle into the Territory of New Mexico" approved March 19th 1884 should be put in full force, operation and effect.

Pardon

Whereas one Christ Sellman in the Fall of 1883 at Las Vegas in the Territory of New Mexico was fined by some Justice of the Peace name not stated, in a sum not specified in the petition laid before one for permitting gaming in said Las Vegas.

And whereas the said case was appealed to the District Court in and for the County of San Miguel in said Territory, and at the March term thereof in the year 1884, the said judgment of the said Justice of the Peace was affirmed by said District Court.

And whereas the Chief Justice who presided in said District Court and Attorney General Breedon recommended that the said Christ Sellman be pardoned and supposing that said petition and recommendation for pardon mean remission of said fine.

Now therefore, I do hereby remit the said fine imposed by said Justice of the Peace and affirmed by said District Court whatever it may be and direct that the same nor any part thereof shall ever be collected from the said Christ Sellman, but such remission shall not apply to the costs of said proceedings as they are the personal property of the respective officers and in my opinion cannot be remitted by the executive.

Proclamation Establishing Quarantine

Whereas, the Legislature of the Territory of New Mexico, at its last session passed an act entitled "An Act to prevent the introduction of diseased cattle into the Territory of New Mexico"

1885

which was approved March 19th, 1884 - the first section of said act being as follows, to wit "It shall be unlawful for any person or corporation to drive or transport, or cause or procure to be driven or transported into the Territory of New Mexico any cattle which are, or within twelve months prior to their introduction into this Territory have been affected with or exposed to any contagious or infectious disease, or which within such period have been driven or transported from or through any district or country where such disease was known to exist at the time of such driving or transporting, or without the certificate of the inspectors of cattle as hereinafter provided being first obtained."

And Whereas, it was the opinion of the legislature as expressed in said section that the cattle of New Mexico would be in danger of taking disease from cattle that have been driven from or through any district where a contagious or infectious disease was known to exist within twelve months immediately preceding;

And Whereas, the legislatures of several adjacent states have proposed or passed laws which provide for the establishment of a quarantine against the introduction of diseased cattle within their respective limits: as early as the first day of March;

And Whereas, the disease known as the Texas fever has previously done serious damage to the cattle in New Mexico and in many localities in the Northwest, which disease has several times been investigated by veterinarians appointed by the government of the United States, whose reports have been uniform that it is a disease easily communicated, and summingly destructive in its effects;

And Whereas, the said act was

1885-

suspended in its operation by a subsequent and supplemental act of said legislature entitled "An act with reference to an act entitled An act to prevent the introduction of diseased cattle into the Territory of New Mexico" approved April 3, 1884, and the Governor of the Territory is in said last named act empowered, whenever in his judgment the circumstance and public interests warrant and require him to put in full force, operation and effect the said act entitled "An act to prevent the introduction of diseased cattle into the Territory of New Mexico" approved March 19, 1884;

And Whereas, in my judgment the circumstances and public interests warrant and require me to do so;
Now, therefore, I do hereby proclaim and order that the said act entitled "An act to prevent the introduction of diseased cattle into the Territory of New Mexico" approved March 19, 1884, and all acts supplemental thereto and amendatory thereof shall be in full force and effect on and after the 10th day of March, A.D., 1885, and until the same are suspended by the proclamation of the Governor of the Territory of New Mexico, and all officers of this Territory are hereby enjoined and required to see that said acts are faithfully obeyed and enforced during the time they shall be and remain in force, operation and effect.

March 20th

Santa Fe, New Mexico, March 19th. 1888
 Hon. L. L. C. Lamar
 Secretary of the Interior

Sir: On the morning of the 10th, I received an urgent telegram from M. W. Mills, the Territorial District Attorney for Colfax County, saying that two deputy Sheriffs of that County were in the jail defending themselves against a mob who threatened their lives, and asking immediate assistance of the militia to protect them. I replied at once to use my name in commanding the mob to disperse and informed him there were forty stands of Territorial arms at Ratan, forty miles distant, and for him to obtain them and arm the citizens. In the mean time the mob had increased in numbers and violence, had driven the editor of the paper out of town, and also the District Attorney, who was compelled to flee to Wagon Mound, distant twenty-five miles, in order to save his life. And from there he telegraphed me as follows: "There is no posse to be had; the arms and proclamation will not avail any thing unless you get the troops from Fort Union quick. The officers, and God knows how many more will be killed. M. W. Mills, District Attorney."

In the mean time I had learned that "Dick" Rogers, a notorious desperado, who had killed one man in that county and desperately wounded the Sheriff who had attempted to arrest him for the crimes, had been killed by the deputy Sheriffs in the jail, and two of Rogers followers, Sam Whalington - "Red River Sam" and John W. Curry had also been killed by the same officers, and that all of his friends and "Cow Boys" were coming into town heavily armed and desperately bent on avenging the death of their three friends; that the people of Springer, the county seat, were paralyzed with fear and utterly helpless. The nearest Territorial Militia were at Las Cruces, more than three hundred miles from Springer, and it would be impossible to get them there in time to do any good. In this emergency, to save the lives of the deputy sheriffs and of innocent people, and to protect the public and private property of the county, I earnestly requested General L. P. Bradley, the military commander of this district, to send twenty men and two commanding officers to the seat of difficulty at Springer. After telegraphic communication with the Department Commander, General Augur, at Fort Leavenworth, he issued the necessary orders, and the troops were put upon a special train, furnished by the A. T. & S. F. Railroad Company, for the emergency and conveyed to Springer, where they arrived about ten o'clock in the night of the 16th, and went direct to the jail where they camped. I, together with the Adjutant General of the Territory, took the first train from here and arrived at Springer at 11 o'clock in the morning of the 17th, and found that the situation had not been in the least exaggerated. It was very critical and the slightest untoward act or word would have precipitated a conflict in which many lives would have been lost. About seventy "Cow boys" were in town, each armed with two large revolvers, and a Winchester rifle, and each having from 90 to 120 cartridges in his belt. They were there to avenge the death of Rogers and his companions, and it was nothing but the presence of the United States troops, that restrained them from at once carrying out their intentions by sacking on destroying the jail with high powder and killing all its inmates. I had a consultation with their leaders, which resulted in an agreement, that the officers and prisoners in the jail should be taken under escort of the troops and a selected guard of citizens to Las Vegas, for a preliminary hearing before the Chief Justice of the Territory who is now holding Court at that place. The agreement was carried out, I coming with the officers, prisoners and escort to Las Vegas, where the deputy sheriffs and prisoners of the Springer jail were turned over to the sheriff of San Miguel County for safe keeping. This has ended the immediate trouble in that locality, but it is liable to break out again with increased violence, and the Territorial militia are absolutely powerless against such men as they would have to meet in another similar emergency. Colfax County is practically without civil officers to execute the law. The Sheriff is disabled, and reported dying, from the effect of Rogers' bullet; his only two efficient deputies are in jail charged with the murder of Rogers. The other deputies are terrorized so that they ~~have~~ are of no use. I would respectfully urge upon you the necessity of an executive order from the President, allowing the District Commander of the District of New Mexico to order such number of troops as may be necessary for the preservation of the life and property of the citizens, when he is called upon so to do by the Governor of the Territory, and when in his judgment, after examining the facts, it may be necessary to that end; the troops to be always used under the direction of the Territorial officers. In this way only will it be possible to administer the law, for at least some time to come. And it is even doubtful if the lawless element of Colfax County will allow the April term of the District court to be held in their county unless the court has the protection of United States troops.

Very respectfully

Your obedient servant

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, }
Santa Fe, N. M., March 19, 1885. }

The acting governor and commander in chief is happy to announce that the unfortunate troubles at Springer, in Colfax county, have ended, for the time being at least; the armed men are dispersed and quiet restored without any loss of life, conflict or disturbance of any sort since the killing of Rogers, Curry and Wallington on the 16th; also that the persons charged with such killing are in safe custody at Las Vegas to await a preliminary examination for the crime.

It is therefore ordered that the thanks of the people of the territory are hereby tendered to General L. P. Bradley, district commander, for his prompt response to the call for U. S. troops in the emergency; to Capt. Kirkman and Lieut. Seyburn for their very efficient command of the detachment at Springer; to the A., T. & S. F. R. R., through its division superintendent, Charles Dyer, by whose energy and promptness the executive and military were enabled to reach the scene in time to avert disaster; and the gentlemen who composed the committee of conference with the executive at Springer on the 17th, without whose calm judgement, cool advices and timely service in behalf of law and order it is believed all efforts and precautions would have been unavailing.

Pardon

Whereas at the March term of the District Court sitting in aid for the County of San Miguel Territory of New Mexico in the year A.D. 1885 Felix Raquillo was convicted of the Crime of selling a cow being the property of another person and sentenced to undergo an imprisonment in the Penitentiary for the period of one year

And Whereas the Chief Justice before whom the cause was tried, The Attorney General of the Territory and many other leading Citizens of said County have petitioned me to pardon the said Felix Raquillo upon the grounds that he is an old citizen of San Miguel County having an insane wife and four small children depending solely upon his support and I am also reliably informed that a grave doubt existed as to his guilt, and that he has heretofore borne a good reputation

Now Therefore I do hereby grant a full and free pardon to him the said Felix Raquillo for the said Crime of which he stands convicted as aforesaid and direct that he be immediately discharged from confinement under said sentence

Office of Secretary

Santa Fe Mar 23rd 1885

To His Excellency Grover Cleveland
President of the United States

Sir
On the 17th Instant I telegraphed you from Springer the County seat of Colfax County New Mexico as follows, Yesterday in a conflict between the Civil officers of Colfax County and cow boys three of the latter were killed and the greatest excitement prevailed, I had no militia near and the Civil officers were powerless. The greatest danger threatened life and property. In this emergency I called on General L.P. Bradley District Commander for twenty soldiers to assist me in preserving the peace and I at once came here. The presence of the soldiers had the desired effect. They will leave for their quarters in the morning Escorting prisoners held by me and blood shed had been avoided - I urge that the action of the District Commander be approved in the interest of law and good order. Please telegraph reply to me at Santa Fe when I return in the morning.

Sam'l H. Laseah
Secretary and Acting
Governor of New Mexico

No reply to this telegram has been received up to this time.

The immediate danger in Colfax County was averted by the presence of the U.S. troops. But it is liable to break out again at any moment.

The Sheriff of the County is dangerously wounded and incapacitated from duty by a gun shot received from "Dick" Rodgers one of the desperadoes who was killed on the 16th and that County is practically without a peace officer while the friends of Rodgers mostly "Corrboys" and desperate men are threatening vengeance upon his players, the courts and all others who do not sympathize with them.

I have no militia nearer than Las Cruces more than three hundred miles distant and they are all native Mexican against whom there exists a strong race prejudice in the minds of the Corrboys and Rodgers element, sufficient of itself to make a conflict should they be sent to Colfax County.

The Corrboys and Rodgers friends were and are constantly armed with two 40-calibre revolvers and a Winchester rifle each in the use of which they are experts and each man carries from 90 to 120 cartridges on his person.

The only law or authority they respect is that of the United States Government and in case they should again desire to rescue friends from jail or parish officers for arresting their friends the Territory would be helpless without the aid of U.S. troops.

To the end Therefore that peace and order may be maintained in this Territory and its courts and civil officers may be enabled to enforce the laws - I respectfully ask that you issue an executive order giving to the District Commander of this Military District Authority to order troops to the assistance of the Civil Officers when called upon so to do by the Governor and when in his judgment the necessity seems to exist. Believing that such an order will have a most salutary effect and that even if troops should be ordered out under it the moral effect of their presence would be all that was necessary and that no conflict would ensue.

Our Mexican militia have proved most patent allies of the civil officers in the post and are fully able to take care of the turbulent and lawless classes elsewhere in the Territory. But for the reason given above I would not want to use them in Colfax County if possible to avoid it.

Trusting
that immediate attention will be given to this most important matter and that in the interest of good order and law abiding citizens my request may be granted.

I am very respectfully

4th. Proclamation - Compilation of Laws

Whereas the Legislature Assembly, at its last session, passed an act which was approved on the third day of April, 1884, which act is as follows: "An act to provide for the compilation, publication and distribution of the Laws of the Territory of New Mexico."

Whereas the session laws of the

Whereas, there has been no delayed compilation of the laws of this Territory since the year 1865, and the compilation of that year was of the general laws only; and of the sessions of the Legislature are out of print, so that to ascertain the law on many subjects is attended with great labor and difficulty;

Therefore, Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of New Mexico:

Section 1. — That the Governor shall appoint three commissioners and one Secretary, who shall be a competent Spanish and English scholar and that each commissioner and the Secretary will receive six dollars per day when necessarily employed in their duties, and the necessary expenses of travelling in going and coming to attend to such compilation, to perform the duties hereinafter imposed. In case of any vacancy in said Commission from death, resignation, or inability or failure to serve, such vacancy shall be filled by appointment by the Governor.

Section 2. — That said commissioners shall proceed at once to make a careful and accurate compilation of all the laws, general, local, and private, which shall be in force on the fifth day of May 1884. In such compilation there shall be, so far as practicable, a classification by titles, to be subdivided into chapter subjects; each chapter, or subdivision of a chapter, shall be headed by a synopsis of its contents, and shall have brief and comprehensive marginal notes, which shall state the date of the original enactments. The laws so compiled shall be comprehensively and accurately indexed, and prefaced with the general table of contents. The said commissioners shall report to the next session of the Legislature any — contradictions, inconsistencies, and omissions found in the existing laws for the information and action of that body.

The expenses of said Commission for copying, translating, stationery, and other incidental matters, shall be paid on verified accounts, approved by the Governor, and the auditor is hereby directed to draw warrants on the Treasurer for the amounts of such verified accounts approved as aforesaid.

Section 3. - When such commissioners shall have completed the said compilation as above required, the same shall be submitted to the Attorney General, and on his certifying that the same is correct and has been done in conformity with the requirements of this act, the said commissioners shall immediately cause the same to be published in octavo volumes, bound in law sheep, in both the English and Spanish languages, on alternate pages, in the same volume. The general laws shall be in one volume, and the local and private laws in another. An appendix to the volume of general laws shall be printed the Congressional act of 1850 organizing the Territory and any subsequent acts of Congress amendatory thereof; the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, or such parts thereof as affect interests in this Territory, and the Kearney Code. Such appendix shall also contain a list of all laws passed since 1865, arranged by years, with notes showing which have been repealed and when. One thousand volumes of the general laws shall be printed and delivered to the Territorial Librarian. One hundred copies thereof shall be placed at the disposal of the Secretary of the Territory to be distributed by him to the Library of Congress, at Washington.

to the heads of the departments at Washington, to the President of the Senate

sentatives of the United States, and

The librarian shall take receipts for all copies distributed, and shall report annually on the first day of December to the Governor and Legislative Assembly the distributions, to whom and where made. One copy shall be given to each of the Territorial officers, to each district judge, each district attorney, and to each clerk of the <sup>district court</sup> ~~board of~~ <sup>where shall be forwarded to the clerk of the</sup> county commissioners

ber for distribution as follows: one and one to each Justice of the Peace.

And the said clerk shall take and delivered, and report the same to the county and precinct officers in this office respectively, and shall be safely kept and turned over to the successors in office, taking their receipts therefor. There shall also be one copy furnished to each member of the present assembly. There shall be six hundred copies of the local and private laws printed, to be distributed in the same manner as above designated for the distribution of the general laws, except that sixty instead of one hundred

Territory to Manual, State, Territorial and public libraries. The remaining volumes shall be placed in the public library at the capital to be distributed as new presents are formed and new offices created in manner and form the same as herein provided for the general laws, and to be sold by the librarian at a price to be fixed by the Governor, Attorney General and Auditor, or a majority of them and the proceeds of such sale used for the benefit of the library.

Section 4. — When said laws shall have been printed, and are ready for distribution, the Governor shall issue his proclamation announcing such fact, and thirty days after the date of such proclamation said compilations shall go into effect, and thereafter the laws so compiled shall be received by all the courts and officers of this Territory, and shall in all respects be as valid and binding as original enrolled acts, approved and filed in the office of the Secretary of the Territory as now provided by law.

Section 5. — The Governor, Attorney General and Auditor, or a majority thereof, of the Territory, are authorized to make a contract for the publication of the laws as hereinbefore provided. Such contract shall be made with the lowest and best bidder for such publication, after advertisement for proposals in at least three newspapers printed in this Territory, and one each in Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, and San Francisco, which shall designate the quality of paper and binding, and the style of type to be used in the work. The Governor shall certify the accounts for the said volumes as they are delivered, and the Auditor shall issue his warrants for the sums so certified. The same officers shall determine a reasonable compensation to the commissioners provided for in this act, and shall provide for the incidental expense of said compilation and distribution, the same to be paid on certificate of the Governor, and the Auditor shall issue his warrants upon the treasury therefor.

Section 6. - That this act shall be in force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

And, Whereas, all the provisions and requirements of said act have been duly complied with in all respects, so far as the same relate to the general laws of the Territory of New Mexico,

I, Lionel A. Sheldon, Governor of the Territory of New Mexico, do hereby proclaim and announce that the volume of the general laws of New Mexico has been duly compiled and printed, as required by said act, and the same are now ready for distribution by the officers mentioned in said act.

| Whereas, It has grown to be a custom throughout this nation for the people to observe the 30th of May of every year by assembling and decorating the graves of the deceased loyal soldiers and to preserve the memory of their noble deeds by other appropriate ceremonies; and                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Whereas, In some of the states said day is made a legal holiday, and knowing that the people of New Mexico are in hearty sympathy with every act and observance which tend to keep green the memory of the patriotic dead and to preserve and strengthen a sentiment of loyalty to the nation throughout the entire land;                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Now, therefore, I, Lionel A. Sheldon, governor of the territory of New Mexico, do hereby urgently request all the people of the territory to lay aside their respective employments on the 30th day of May, A. D. 1885, and wherever it is practicable to join the Grand Army of the Republic in such appropriate ceremonies as shall be prescribed for manifesting the respect and affections of the living comrades for the patriotic dead. And it would seem to be especially appropriate for all civil and military officers of the territory, counties and precincts to be present and join in all proceedings that may be devised to honor those who fell in defense of the country and of universal human liberty. |
